

Neuroscience Research Paper 1

This study investigates the role of hippocampal place cells in spatial navigation and memory formation. We use optogenetic manipulation to demonstrate causal relationships between neural activity patterns and behavioral performance.