

Machine Learning Research Paper 4

A comprehensive study on generative adversarial networks for synthetic data generation. We propose a Wasserstein GAN variant with spectral normalization that produces high-fidelity images while maintaining training stability.