

Neuroscience Research Paper 5

We develop a brain-computer interface using high-density microelectrode arrays for decoding motor intentions. Our algorithm achieves 95% accuracy in predicting hand movements from primary motor cortex signals.