

Machine Learning Research Paper 6

This paper introduces a graph neural network architecture for molecular property prediction. We leverage message passing neural networks with attention-based aggregation for drug discovery applications.