

Climate Change Research Paper 9

This paper presents new paleoclimate data from Antarctic ice cores spanning 800,000 years. We reconstruct atmospheric CO₂ concentrations and temperature variations to validate current climate models.