

Machine Learning Research Paper 15

This work proposes a contrastive learning approach for self-supervised visual representation learning. We demonstrate that momentum-based feature banks improve downstream task performance.