

Climate Change Research Paper 14

We present satellite-based observations of glacier retreat in the Himalayan region over the past four decades. Our mass balance calculations indicate accelerating ice loss threatening water resources for billions.